Her Voice Carries

Her Voice Carries is an art project led by Sarah C. Rutherford that features the unique stories of five women who are working and living in various communities in Rochester, NY. Each woman was photographed, interviewed, drawn and painted. The project comprises a series of murals located throughout the five sections of the city. The intention is to create a network of murals that weave a collective story laced with individual truths. Further, this series emphasizes the commonalities of our human experience through the leadership of empowered women.

Sarah C. Rutherford is a Boston-born and Rochester-based illustrator, painter, installation and mural artist with a focus on collaboration and placemaking.
